1. Performance and Financial Position

(1) Qualitative Information regarding the Consolidated Operating Results

During the nine months ended December 31, 2016, for the Precision Equipment Business, capital investments in the semiconductor-related field were firm, and in the FPD-related field, capital investments primarily on mid-to-small size panels were booming. In the Imaging Products Business, the Digital Camera-Interchangeable Lens Type market and the compact digital camera market remained weak. In the Instruments Business, the microscope-related field was impacted by a delay in public budget execution in the U.S. and Europe, while it held steady in Asia. In the industrial metrology-related field, capital investments were weak as caused mainly by a delay in overall economic recovery. In the Medical Business, the retinal diagnostic imaging equipment market remained solid on a global scale.

Under these circumstances, net sales for the nine months ended December 31, 2016 decreased by 50,604 million yen (8.2%) year on year to 565,893 million yen, operating income increased by 16,939 million yen (67.1%) year on year to 42,182 million yen, and ordinary income increased by 13,351 million yen (42.5%) year on year to 44,789 million yen. However, net loss attributable to owners of the parent of 831 million yen (net income attributable to owners of the parent of 18,709 million yen in the same period the previous fiscal year) was posted by recording losses from inventory write-downs/write-offs in the Semiconductor Lithography Business as restructuring expenses as well as an increase in tax expenses arising from tax effects.

Performance by segment is as follows.

In the Precision Equipment Business, the Semiconductor Lithography System field saw an increase in unit sales of ArF scanners and advanced immersion scanners. The FPD Lithography System field experienced brisk capital investments on mid-to-small size panels mainly in the Chinese market, which led to a significant year on year growth in unit sales of equipment for mid-to-small size panels. As a result, for this business segment, drastic increases in both sales and profits were posted compared to the same period the previous fiscal year.

In the Imaging Products Business, although the Nikon Group focused on sales of the Digital Camera-Interchangeable Lens Type products, such as the D5 and the D500, and made efforts for cost reduction, the shrinking digital camera market and the impact of the 2016 Kumamoto Earthquake on the supply chain have caused a year on year decline in overall sales and profits of this business segment.

In the Instruments Business, sales were weak in the microscope field, owing to foreign exchange and prolonged sluggish market conditions in the U.S. and Europe albeit a rise in sales in Japan and in Asia. In the industrial metrology field, despite a boost in sales of CNC Video Measuring Systems in Japan and semiconductor inspection systems in Asia, total sales decreased impacted by cutbacks in capital investments. As a result, both sales and profits of this business segment declined year on year.

In the Medical Business, while the retinal diagnostic imaging equipment was solid in Japan and in Europe, its performance was sluggish in the U.S.

(2) Qualitative Information on Consolidated Financial Position

The balance of total assets as of December 31, 2016 increased 73,550 million yen from the end of the previous fiscal year to 1,040,129 million yen. This was primarily because cash and deposits rose 68,667 million yen due to increased long-term loans payable and advances received, and investment securities were up 18,458 million yen in line with rises in stock prices, while inventories decreased 22,798 million yen as a result of inventory write-down/ write-off associated with a restructuring.

The balance of total liabilities as of December 31, 2016 rose 72,281 million yen from the end of the previous fiscal year to 510,579 million yen. This was mainly due to an increase of 19,416 million yen in advances received as well as an increase of 41,479 million yen in long-term loans payable.

The balance of total net assets as of December 31, 2016 increased 1,269 million yen to 529,549 million yen from the end of the previous fiscal year. Although retained earnings declined as posting net loss attributable to owners of the parent and dividends paid, gains in valuation difference on available-for-sale securities led to the increase of net asset.

During the nine months ended December 31, 2016, although sales of the Imaging Product Business fell year on year, net cash of 87,075 million yen was provided by operating activities as a result of increased advances received, driven by the continuous boom in sales of the Precision Equipment Business over last quarters (net cash of 83,028 million yen was provided in the same period the previous year).

While the expenditure a year earlier soared to acquire the shares of Optos Plc, the expenditure for the nine months ended December 31, 2016 was primarily to purchase property, plant and equipment, which led the net cash used in investing activities to 35,659 million yen (net cash of 88,630 million yen was used in the same period the previous fiscal year).

In financing activities, net cash of 16,006 million yen was provided (net cash of 14,858 million yen was used in the same period the previous fiscal year) mainly due to proceeds from long-term loan payable.

In addition, the effect of exchange rate change on cash and cash equivalents decreased 1,884 million yen.

As a result of the above, the balance of cash and cash equivalents at December 31, 2016 rose 65,536 million yen from the end of the previous fiscal year to 316,747 million yen.

(Note) As reported in "2. Notes regarding Summary Information (Others), (2) Changes in Accounting Policies, Accounting Estimates, and Restatement," the accounting policy for the revenue recognition of the Precision Equipment Business was changed from the first quarter ended June 30, 2016. The comparisons in "(2) Qualitative Information regarding the Consolidated Operating Results" and "(3) Qualitative Information on Consolidated Financial Position" were made with the figures adjusted retrospectively for the nine months ended December 31, 2015 and the year ended March 31, 2016 in accordance with the change.

(3) Qualitative Information regarding the Consolidated Financial Forecasts

Regarding the consolidated financial forecasts for the year ending March 31, 2017, for the Precision Equipment Business, capital investments in the semiconductor-related field are expected to remain steady, and in the FPD-related field, a boom in capital investments primarily on mid-to-small size panels is forecasted to continue. For the Imaging Products Business, difficult situations are expected to persist in the Digital Camera-Interchangeable Lens Type market and compact digital camera market. For the Instruments Business, market shares of the microscope-related field are predicted to rise in Japan and Asia, and in the industrial metrology-related field, the Nikon Group seeks sales increases with the automobile-related field, but the prospect of the field as a whole is to be impacted by slowdown in market recovery. In the Medical Business, the retinal diagnostic imaging equipment market is expected to remain solid.

The consolidated financial forecasts for the year ending March 31, 2017 announced on November 8, 2016 have been revised as stated in the "Revision of the Financial Forecast for the Fiscal Year Ending March 31, 2017" released on the same date (February 13, 2017).

2. Notes Regarding Summary Information (Others)

(1) Changes in Significant Consolidated Subsidiaries

Not applicable

(2) Changes in Accounting Policies, Accounting Estimates and Restatement

(Change in the Accounting Policy for the Revenue Recognition)

In the Precision Equipment Business, taking into consideration the terms of the contract and other relevant information, the revenue from sale transactions of the FPD Lithography System for customers abroad had been recognized on either the shipping dates or the time of delivery to the locations designated by customers. From the three months ended June 30, 2016, however, the accounting policy was changed to recognize the revenue at the point when the installation is completed, as it better reflects the practice of the revenue for the following reasons; sales of the FPD Lithography System, which is suitable for the production of high-definition displays, have made up a growing proportion of the Group's total revenue; the installation of the system demands a more elaborate procedure than the conventional ones and is thus likely to require sophisticated work for longer periods.

The change in the accounting policy was applied retrospectively, and the consolidated quarterly and full-year financial statements for the previous fiscal year were adjusted retrospectively in accordance with the change.

As a result, net sales for the nine months ended December 31, 2015 decreased 893 million yen compared with the figures prior to the retrospective application. Operating income, ordinary income and income before income taxes for the same period decreased by 3,786 million yen, respectively. In addition, the beginning balance of retained earnings for the same period declined 8,790 million yen, as the cumulative effect of the change was reflected on the net assets at the beginning of the previous fiscal year.

Impacts on the segment information are stated in the relevant section.

(4) Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements

(Consolidated Statements of Income and Comprehensive Income)

※1. Gain on Valuation of Derivatives

Gain on valuation of derivatives was a valuation difference on cross currency interest rate swap transactions, which aimed at averting risks from fluctuations in foreign exchange and interest rates associated with the full amounts of loans denominated in foreign currency and interest. On the other hand, foreign exchange loss incurred from the underlying loans denominated in foreign currency.

※2. Restructuring Expenses

The Nikon Group is currently under a fundamental restructuring to improve its corporate value as shifting from a strategy pursuing revenue growth to one pursuing profit enhancement. In accordance with this restructuring, losses from inventory write-downs/ write-offs in the Semiconductor Lithography Business were recorded as restructuring expenses for the nine months ended December 31, 2016.
